Call to Confirm Dances

Remember when square dancing used to be totally fun? I've heard stories of ice cream parties and pranks at conventions and other things that would make your toes curl or your hair stand on end.

Remember standing in a huge hall stuffed to the gills with dancers all gussied up in frills and petticoats and ties and highly shined shoes?

Remember those yellow rocks that lasted, well, just the right amount of time or maybe 20 seconds too long?

It's not too late to bring back the fun and excitement of square dancing. I recently attended a Backwards Dance at Petunia City Squares. The greeters said "Good-bye" as we came in. We started with the big circle "Thank You" that usually ends the night.

Chairs and banners were turned backwards. Caller Bob Asp and Cuer Jerry Buckmaster got in the spirit and turned things around in the squares and circle.

If we look for creative ways to make square dancing fun, we can easily attract new dancers, and again enjoy the semi-contact sport of a jam-packed square dance!
